

Students of SGRRU, accompanied by their faculty members, had the opportunity to witness the Uttarakhand Assembly session

Students of SGRRU, accompanied by their faculty members, had the opportunity to witness the Uttarakhand Assembly session. For many, it was their first time observing the legislative proceedings live, and they were visibly excited about the experience.

Unlike watching assembly sessions through news media, this visit provided a first-hand understanding of the legislative process. It was a moment of pride for the students when Assembly Speaker Ritu Khanduri Bhushan acknowledged them by mentioning the university's name while addressing the audience. Prof. Preeti Tiwari, Dean of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, highlighted that this visit was a unique and enriching experience for the students. The visit was particularly beneficial for political science students, while others also found it highly informative.

Prof. Preeti expressed gratitude to Honorable Speaker Ritu Khanduri Bhushan, as well as all dignitaries and officials present, for encouraging the students and inspiring them toward active political participation.
