About Bootcamp

For a budding entrepreneur, the process of preparing a business proposal with a financial plan is not so encouraging, and pitching for funding requires lots of hard work and effort. Even so much hard work and effort may fail to get the business off the ground. In such a case, boot camps could come to the rescue. Boot camps help start-ups or wannabe entrepreneurs in understanding the nuances of entrepreneurship, acquiring the necessary skills to write a business proposal and skills to effectively pitch. Boot camp is a space for budding entrepreneurs to meet others who are in the same boat as they are and learn from each other's experiences. It serves as a platform to learn, interact and get direct feedback from industry experts, start-up mentors and top-notch academicians. Start-up Bootcamp is a one-of-a-kind platform that allows participants to work in a mentoring atmosphere and pitch before a panel of recognized industry experts on their idea. The sole goal is to show participants & future entrepreneurs, how to make a business plan and take a close look at their financial needs and prospects. It's also an opportunity to fix their idea's shortcomings and build answers to the difficult questions that someone might ask before availing of their services/buying their products and paying money.
